

From Memoirs by David Rockefeller (2002)

COMING HOME

In August, Uncle Winthrop came through Paris, and we talked about my plans for the future. He said that a career at the Chase National Bank, of which he was chairman, was the logical path for me to follow. I didn't give him a firm answer